Delta 3 Tri-Village 0

Game four for Delta came on Tuesday at noon against Tri-Village, and the first four innings were scoreless. Delta opened the floodgates in the fifth as they scored 3 runs on 4 hits, including a double by Krauss and singles by Martin, Ramirez and Dick.

Tri-Village managed a threat in the seventh as their lead off hitter singled. A walk placed runners on first and second with no outs. Martin got the next two batters on a pop fly and a strikeout. Melissa Russell made the defensive play of the game as she gunned down a runner at first from her right field position to end the game.

Martin gained her third victory as she gave up 2 hits and recorded 11 strikeouts.

Delta 5 Brookville 1

After having Wednesday off, the Lady Panthers played Brookville to players who register after April 14.

Traveling team tryouts will be held on April 13th from 10:30 - noon and on April 14th from 2-3 p.m. at the High School Gym. This is for our 14, 12, and 10 and under teams.

Parents, if you missed the last registration, you will have an opportunity to view the PAYS video on April 13th and 14th. Please plan on attending one of the 5 sessions offered. The entire meeting should last approximately 40 minutes. Attendance at one of the PAYS informational sessions is mandatory for your child to participate in any recreational sport offered by the Park Board. Parents from other park activities are also welcome to attend these sessions to qualify your child for his/her sport.

Delta Public Library Receives Grant

Last fall, Patricia Grover, Delta Public Library Director, with board approval, wrote and submitted a proposal for grant funding through the State Library of Ohio. The proposal was for the creation of a computer training lab to be used for staff and patron utilization.

The lab will contain six individual computer stations and one instructor unit within the area known as the Public Access Computer Room. The computers currently installed in that area are dissimilar and outdated, thereby making it impossible to do classroom type training.

Also included in the proposal is the expansion of the library's deferral funds; however, there is a financial match of 25% of the total project required from the institution.

Delta Public Library's project proposal was for the maximum amount of $15,000; with matching funds, the project will total $20,000. Included for purchase are nine computers and printers, six ergonomic view-down design student desks and nine seating units, one portable instructor workstation, one LCD projector, one scanner, miscellaneous paper supplies, and contractual services for installation, and The State Library of Ohio made final approvals on recommended grants on March 28. Work began on expending monies on April 1st, as the project must be completed by September 30, 2002.

Do You Know If Foundry Sand Was Placed on Your Property?

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency believes that foundry sand from the former Markey Bronze/Eagle-Picher facility on Van Buren Street in Delta may have been used as fill at several properties in and around Delta from the 1950s to the early 1980s. While in business, the facility used sand to create molds for its foundry manufacturing processes. The foundry sand may have become contaminated with high levels of lead and other metals. Last year EPA learned that some of the waste foundry sand was used as fill on residential properties.

Today, the waste foundry sand may appear to be black in color with a fine, granular texture. It could possibly be located at or near the surface or buried underneath a layer of soil. Contaminated foundry sand may pose a health risk if people, especially children, have direct contact with it. If you have reason to believe that foundry sand was placed on your property, please contact EPA as soon as possible.

Jack Gaynor won the second had to say good-bye to my baby. As the waterfall of tears was about to burst, Mrs. Rettig's arms reached around Sharon. Her big hug seemed to reassure both of us that we were going to make it. We learned that the trauma of "letting go" is hard, but necessary. Letting go became easier as we learned about all the alphabet people, like Mr. R, the Rubberband man.

We learned that reading can be fun as we sat in Mrs. Prentiss's red tub. We learned that somewhere between kindergarten and third grade we grew up. Mrs. Hoffman, how did you teach all those subjects! We learned that overlooking faults is taught easier by example. We learned that Mrs. Laubenthal and Mrs. Short simply opened windows to allow a cool breeze to come in the room after Roger would return from gym. Their gracious acts of kindness helped us to learn kindness is our greatest asset.

We learned that sometimes teachers can have bad days, because we learned that we have bad days, too. And sometimes we have to be forgiving, if we want forgiveness. We learned that discipline is important by standing in the circle. We learned that sometimes we weren't at fault, but other times we weren't caught.

We learned that the classroom extends into the realm of the arts. We learned a love for music that was inspired by the help of Mrs. Bloomer. We learned that music actually helps to reinforce the core subjects through talented lessons by Mrs. Bostwick.

We learned that some teachers are simply gifted by God. Some teachers are able to find certain keys that unlock learning for those who are challenged. Mrs. Hausch taught us that every student can learn. She carries her classroom in her heart and finds a way to reteach a lesson until it is learned.

We learned that life isn't always about climbing higher or getting ahead. Mrs. Pontious, who was offered a professorship, declined to stay in touch with children. We learned sometimes the most famous people are those that walk right beside us. They are the true heroes.

love for French. While Mrs. Feenhan and Mrs. Bell bestow Spanish. We learned that Mr. Friess has a way to tell a story that can captivate and motivate. His style challenges students to think and respond to their world.

We learned that a Hanely helper is more than getting donuts in the morning. Mr. Hanely has a way to make a physically challenged student feel good even about gym. We learned that Mrs. Case is really an artist who just happens to be able to teach. We learned that Miss Schondel can make a person love music. She can help to hide the monotone singer and still produce a number one singing group at State. We learned that band is more than just performing and marching. Mr. Goossen makes leaders out of students. We learned that drumline takes hours of time, yet Mr. Rayfield stays committed.

We learned that we can't possibly remember every kind smile, gesture, pat on the back, word of help, or act of encouragement that has been given over the years. We learned most teachers who we have failed to mention by name still understand their importance. They never entered teaching for recognition, money or fame, anyway.

We learned that some teachers teach their best lessons outside of the classroom. We learned that we always have more to learn. Mrs. Ernst knows the answer to the question, What is a teacher? I'm inspired by the gracious way she has taught day in and day out for 38 years. Her resolve to keep going. Her reassuring wink of calmness in the midst of a storm. Through her example, she has taught us that every teacher plays a part in making the tapestry of learning. Depending on the type of student, sometimes the teacher provides a huge square of material for the tapestry, while other times they are merely a stitch or two of thread. But what makes the teacher unique is that whether they have played a huge part or barely a stitch, their role is needed for the tapestry to be complete. Each teacher is necessary.

Someday, God willing, my children will be getting grandbabies ready for school. When these babies ask them, "What is a teacher?" We are forever grateful for the beautiful tapestry of learning that Roger and Sharon were given by a host of wonderful teachers. It will be able to help them answer that question. "A teacher is going to help us learn many new things, honey!"

Thank you teachers for making a beautiful tapestry.

ed to Fulton County near the corner of Co. Rd. F and 27th, and viewed a ditch scheduled to be installed a new tile and replace old tile. James Carothers and Matt Snow filed petitions to have the work surveyed.

In other business:

- Administrator Von Hall sent a letter to the Fulton County Bar Association asking for a committee to research ways to cut back on public defender costs. The past two consecutive years' cost has topped $100,000, the year prior to that was near that mark.
- The county commissioners passed resolutions to transfer funds, approve contracts, purchase equipment and other actions which is involved in the business of providing county services. The official minutes indicate they passed 24 routine business resolutions between March 7 to the 21st, and approved 58 travel requests.
- The commissioners discussed the future for five of those acres located behind the board of Developmental Disabilities on Ottokee Street since its tenant farmer, Paul Pfund, has passed away. Adjacent farmer Craig Myers has expressed an interest in picking up the lease.
- Negotiated a deal with the City of Wauseon to secure $650,000 in financing through the Ohio EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) Revolving Loan Fund for improvements to the Ottokee Water System.
- The commissioners continued non-conclusive correspondence with the Ohio EPA regarding the leachate abatement for the Fulton County Landfill. Closed now for almost a decade.
